

Rethinking the Crying Baby

Project ECHO community of practice

Join this free, interprofessional community of practice led by

Dr Pamela Douglas (GP, Dr Pam project) and Renee Keogh (Registered Nurse, Possums & Co.)

GPs, child health nurses and others report a need for support in the management of unsettled babies, and related breastfeeding and feeding challenges which can underlie crying and fussing. Increasingly, Emergency Department presentations and hospital admissions are occurring for feeding, growth and settling related concerns, which may be preventable.

We welcome clinicians including GPs, nurses, Emergency Department staff, paediatricians and hospital-based teams to participate in this interactive learning network, designed to promote evidence-based care of unsettled infants in the community.

2nd Thursday of the month, 8-9am

All you need is an internet connection, webcam and a preparedness to contribute ideas and your own de-identified cases to the discussion.

Sessions include a case discussion, and brief presentation on a topic identified by the group as a priority learning need.
